David Grubin -- New York, NY: Ambrose Video, 2007. –

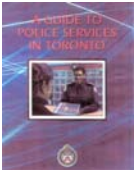

Episode 1 : "Endlessly beating" examines the heart as a muscle and tells the story of the normal heart through the histories of three people with end-stage heart failure, where a transplant is often a necessity -- Episode 2 : "The spark of life" looks at the physiological electrical mechanisms that keep a heart beating regularly and efficiently and what happens when this rhythm of life goes awry. The program takes viewers into the lives of patients who suffer similar symptoms that signal different disorders and the range of treatment options -- Episode 3 : "The silent killer" focuses on atherosclerosis, risk factors and treatment options for this disease.
