What you need to know about safety

- The Inpatient Unit is a locked unit. To enter and leave the unit, patients and visitors must press the buzzer for the door to unlock.

- There is a sign-out book at the front of the nursing station where the ward clerk sits. Patients must sign in and out each time they enter and leave the unit.
• Each patient needs different levels of care and support. Please leave and enter only with patients who are with you.

• All items or gifts brought for a family member or friend must be checked at the nursing station before bringing them in.

What are the legal issues about sharing information?
If your family member or friend has given us permission:

• The health care team will share how your family member or friend is doing and their plan of care.

• You may also be invited to come to a meeting with the health care team to talk about treatment and plans for going home. You can also ask any questions you may have.

If your family member or friend has not given us permission:

• We cannot share any information about their treatment because the health care team must follow the law.

• You can let us know of any concerns you may have about your family member or friend’s safety or well-being.

Involuntary admissions
There are times when a patient needs to be admitted against their will. These decisions are made based on the Mental Health Act. This is called an involuntary admission. More information about this topic is available at the nursing station.

Why do we search the patient’s personal belongings?
It is important that the Mental Health Centre Inpatient Unit is a safe place for patients, visitors and staff. When a patient is admitted to the unit, a staff member will search their belongings.
If you are bringing items on to the unit for your friend or family member, they must be checked by a staff member first.

Please note that the hospital cannot be responsible for lost property.

Why do patients have to wear a wristband?

At UHN, all patients wear a identification (ID) wristband to make sure that they are properly identified before they receive treatment, medical procedures or tests.

When your family member or friend is admitted, they should have an ID wristband with 3 things on it:
1. name
2. date of birth
3. UHN medical record number

Patients should wear their wristband at all times.

If the patient is not wearing their wristband or if any information is wrong, please tell a nurse.

For safety, all patients also have to wear a coloured wristband. The colour of your family member or friend’s wristband depends on their treatment plan and care needs.

How we reduce the risk of infection

Hand hygiene is the most important way to prevent the spread of infection. All members of the health care team should wash their hands before and after providing any care. If you have any doubts, please remind them to wash their hands before giving care to your family member or friend.
We remind all visitors to wash their hands or use antiseptic gel before and after visiting the inpatient unit. Gel dispensers are found throughout the inpatient unit and hospital. If you do not feel well, please come back when you are feeling better.

UHN is scent-free

Please do not use perfumes and scented products on the unit.

No smoking

UHN is a smoke-free environment. Nicotine replacement is available for all patients to help manage the urge to smoke. If patients would like to join a smoking cessation program we can help make this referral.

Interpretation services

UHN has an interpretation service. We can book an interpreter to be at any family meeting with the health care team. Please let us know the language needs of any family members who may be attending meetings.

Students working on the Inpatient unit

The University Health Network is a teaching hospital. All students working on the inpatient unit are closely supervised. Like the team members, students will introduce themselves to you so you know who they are.
